Dear parents and carers,

I have received feedback from the parents' forum and also from general conversations with parents that communication between school and home is still not good enough. This is what the school is doing to address this:

- In the Summer term, starting the first Friday after the Easter holiday, the newsletter will be emailed to you. If you have a new email address or do not receive it, please let the office know. It will of course still be available on the website and Facebook as usual. The newsletter will be phone and tablet friendly.
- The school website is having a makeover to make it easier to navigate with a fresh new look and also making it phone and tablet friendly. It will go live after Easter, with Facebook and Twitter links. Thank you to www.lawsonphotography.co.uk for taking some beautiful photos and donating their services free of charge to the school. I'll let you know when the new website goes live.
- We are ordering a display board for the playground to put up newsletters etc.

All our normal means of communication remain the same and, as always, if you have suggestions for further improvements, please let me or the office know.

Have a lovely Easter holiday.

Yours faithfully,

Joanne Owen, Acting Headteacher
